RoHS Statement

The RoHS Directive 2011/65/EU restricts the use of certain hazardous substances commonly used in the manufacturing of electrical and electronic equipment and requires producers of such equipment to limit the content of the following materials:

Lead (Pb)
Mercury (Hg)
Cadmium (Cd)
Hexavalent Chromium (Cr)
Polybrominated Biphenyls (PBB)
Polybrominated Diphenyl Ethers (PBDE)

101 Engineering has implemented procedures to ensure that parts it supplies are compliant with RoHS Directive 2011/65/EU, which include:

1. Obtaining compliance statements from suppliers.
2. Verifying RoHS component status at point of order and receipt when available.
3. Procedures to handle non RoHS compliant components.

Components supplied on a free-issue basis from a customer are not checked for RoHS compliance and is considered the customers' responsibility.

We can certify that, to the best of our knowledge, parts supplied are complaint with RoHS Directive 2011/65/EU unless otherwise stated.
